1. General Provisions

1.1. This Privacy Policy sets out the rules for the processing of personal data in connection with Cloud Native Days Poland 2026, the website operated at cloudnatedayspoland.org, the sale of Tickets, registration for and participation in the Conference, communication with users, and related organisational activities.

1.2. This Privacy Policy also applies to the processing of personal data in connection with complaints, correspondence, cooperation with speakers, sponsors and partners, as well as the use of cookies or similar technologies within the Website.

2. Data Controller

2.1. The controller of personal data is the Innoventis Foundation, with its registered office at ul. Skierniewicka 14/66, 01-230 Warsaw, entered in the relevant register under KRS No. 0001188169, NIP 5273178248, and REGON 542504270.

2.2. The Controller may be contacted by post at ul. Skierniewicka 14/66, 01-230 Warsaw, Poland, or by electronic means at organizers@cloudnatedayspoland.org.

3. Definitions

3.1. For the purposes of this Privacy Policy, the following terms shall have the meanings set out below.

3.2. Controller means the Innoventis Foundation referred to in Section 2 above.

3.3. Conference means the Cloud Native Days Poland 2026 conference taking place on 22 October 2026 in Warsaw, at Chmielna 73, Varso Tower complex.

3.4. Website means the website operated at cloudnatedayspoland.org and the related tools and services used in connection with registration, Ticket sales, communication, and participation in the Conference, including the external Ticket sales system available at cnd2026.konfeo.com.

3.5. Participant, Service Recipient, and Ticket shall have the meanings assigned to them respectively in the Conference Terms and Conditions and the Electronic Services Terms and Conditions.

4. Categories of Data Subjects

4.1. The Controller may process personal data of, in particular, Service Recipients, Participants, persons registered for the Conference by third parties, speakers and prospective speakers, sponsors and partners or their representatives, persons contacting the Controller, and users of the Website.

5. Purposes of Processing and Legal Bases

5.1. Personal data may be processed for the purpose of taking steps prior to entering into a contract and for the conclusion and performance of a contract, including in particular registration for the Conference, the sale of Tickets, payment processing, invoice issuance, handling of Ticket transfer, refunds, and the organisation of participation in the Conference, pursuant to Article 6(1)(b) of the GDPR.

5.2. Personal data may be processed for compliance with legal obligations incumbent upon the Controller, including accounting, tax, and record-keeping obligations, pursuant to Article 6(1)(c) of the GDPR.

5.3. Personal data may be processed on the basis of the Controller's legitimate interest referred to in Article 6(1)(f) of the GDPR, in particular for the purposes of organising and operating the Conference, communicating with Participants and Service Recipients, responding to enquiries, handling complaints, ensuring security, preventing abuse, establishing, pursuing or defending claims, selecting and coordinating speakers, and documenting and promoting the Conference and its future editions.

5.4. In cases required by applicable law, personal data may also be processed on the basis of consent, pursuant to Article 6(1)(a) of the GDPR, including in particular for the purpose of sending marketing communications by electronic means, using cookies or similar technologies other than those which are strictly necessary, and disclosing personal data to sponsors or partners for their own marketing purposes.

6. Scope of Personal Data Processed

6.1. Depending on the purpose of processing and the nature of the relationship with the Controller, the Controller may process, in particular, the following categories of personal data: first name and surname, e-mail address, telephone number, company or organisation name, job title or function, invoice details, order and payment details, Ticket type, complaint-related information, correspondence data, registration and participation data, and, where applicable, image and audiovisual recordings captured during the Conference.

6.2. The Controller may also process technical data related to the use of the Website, including IP address, browser and device data, logs, cookie identifiers, and data concerning user activity within the Website, subject to the applicable legal basis and consent settings where required.

7. Source of Personal Data

7.1. As a rule, personal data is obtained directly from the data subject.

7.2. In certain cases, personal data may be obtained indirectly, in particular where a Participant is registered by an employer, client, or another person acting on the Participant's behalf, or where data is provided in connection with a speaker submission or a similar process.

8. Recipients of Personal Data

8.1. Personal data may be disclosed to entities cooperating with the Controller where this is necessary for the fulfilment of the purposes described in this Privacy Policy, including in particular providers of registration, ticketing and payment solutions, hosting and IT service providers, Website maintenance providers, providers of e-mail, analytics and communication tools, providers of accounting and tax services, providers of legal and advisory services, banks, payment operators, postal and courier operators, and subcontractors supporting the organisation of the Conference.

8.2. Personal data is not disclosed to sponsors without the prior explicit consent of the data subject, save where the data subject independently provides such data to a sponsor or partner, including by scanning an identification badge, completing a form, participating in a sponsor activity, or otherwise providing the data directly.

8.3. Where personal data is transferred to a sponsor or partner for its own purposes, or where the data subject independently provides such data to a sponsor or partner, that sponsor or partner acts as a separate controller in respect of such personal data.

9. Data Retention Period

9.1. Personal data shall be retained for no longer than is necessary to fulfil the purposes for which it is processed.

9.2. In particular, data processed for contractual and organisational purposes shall be retained for the period necessary to perform the relevant contract and organise the Conference.

9.3. Data processed for accounting and tax purposes shall be retained for the period required by law.

9.4. Data processed in connection with complaints or correspondence shall be retained for the period necessary to resolve the matter and thereafter for the period justified by evidentiary needs and the establishment, pursuit, or defence of claims.

9.5. Materials comprising image or audiovisual recordings may be retained for the period justified by the Controller's documentary, archival, and promotional needs, subject to applicable law and any effectively raised objection.

9.6. Data processed on the basis of consent shall be retained until consent is withdrawn or until the purpose of processing has been fulfilled, depending on which event occurs first, unless further retention is justified on another lawful basis.

10. Rights of the Data Subject

10.1. Subject to the conditions and limitations arising under the GDPR, the data subject has the right to request access to personal data, rectification, erasure, restriction of processing, and data portability, as well as the right to object to processing based on the Controller's legitimate interest.

10.2. Where processing is based on consent, such consent may be withdrawn at any time without affecting the lawfulness of processing carried out prior to its withdrawal.

10.3. The data subject also has the right to lodge a complaint with the President of the Personal Data Protection Office if the data subject considers that the processing of personal data infringes applicable law.

11. Voluntary Provision of Data

11.1. The provision of personal data is voluntary; however, in many cases it is necessary in order to register for the Conference, purchase a Ticket, obtain an invoice, submit a complaint, contact the Controller, or use selected functionalities of the Website.

11.2. Failure to provide the personal data required for a given purpose may result in the inability to complete the relevant process or provide the requested service.

12. Automated Decision-Making

12.1. Personal data shall not be used for decision-making based solely on automated processing, including profiling, producing legal effects concerning the data subject or similarly significantly affecting the data subject, unless such processing is expressly indicated and permitted under applicable law.

13. Transfers of Data Outside the EEA

13.1. Personal data may be transferred outside the European Economic Area if the Controller uses the services of providers whose infrastructure, affiliated entities, or sub-processors are located outside the European Economic Area, including providers of analytics, advertising, communication, or cloud services.

13.2. In such cases, the Controller shall ensure the application of an appropriate transfer mechanism in accordance with Chapter V of the GDPR, including, where appropriate, an adequacy decision adopted by the European Commission or standard contractual clauses.

13.3. The data subject may obtain further information regarding the safeguards applied in connection with transfers of data outside the European Economic Area by contacting the Controller at organizers@cloudnatedayspoland.org.

14. Cookies and Similar Technologies

14.1. The Website may use cookies and similar technologies necessary for its proper functioning, ensuring security, performance measurement, remembering user preferences, and, subject to the user's consent where required by law, for analytics and marketing purposes.

14.2. Cookies may include session cookies, persistent cookies, and third-party cookies, depending on the technologies actually implemented within the Website.

14.3. The user may manage cookie preferences by means of the consent management tool, if such tool has been made available within the Website, and by means of browser settings, provided that disabling certain cookies may affect the availability or proper functioning of selected Website features.

15. Analytics and Marketing Tools

15.1. If implemented, the Website may use analytics, remarketing, advertising, conversion measurement, and similar tools provided by third parties.

15.2. To the extent required by applicable law, such tools shall be used solely on the basis of the user's prior consent expressed through the cookie management mechanism.

15.3. To the extent that third-party providers process personal data for their own purposes, they may act as separate controllers in accordance with their own privacy policies and terms.

16. Image and Recording of the Event

16.1. The Conference may be photographed and recorded by the Controller or by entities authorised by the Controller for the purpose of documenting the course of the Conference, informing about its course, and promoting the Conference and its future editions, including on the Conference website, in social media channels, and in promotional, informational, and recap materials.

16.2. Participation in the Conference may involve the recording of the Participant's image in photographic or audiovisual materials documenting the course of the Conference, in particular in shots of the audience, stage, booths, conference space, networking, and accompanying events.

16.3. A Participant who does not wish their image to be recorded or disseminated in individual shots or in materials in which they are the main subject may notify the Controller accordingly upon registration or during the Conference, and the Controller shall use reasonable efforts to accommodate such request, subject to the possibility of recording the Participant's image in general shots or as part of a larger whole.

16.4. Giving a statement on camera, posing for a photograph, participating in an interview, or knowingly taking part in a recording made by the Controller or entities authorised by the Controller may constitute a basis for the recording and dissemination of the Participant's image to the extent resulting from the nature of the relevant material, in accordance with the Conference Terms and Conditions.

17. Data Security

17.1. The Controller applies appropriate technical and organisational measures aimed at ensuring a level of security appropriate to the risk, including protection against accidental or unlawful destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorised disclosure of personal data, or unauthorised access to personal data processed in connection with the Website and the Conference.

18. Amendments to the Privacy Policy

18.1. The Controller reserves the right to amend this Privacy Policy, in particular in the event of changes in law, changes in the scope of services provided, changes in the tools used within the Website, or changes in the manner in which the Conference is organised.

18.2. The updated version of this Privacy Policy shall be published within the Website.

19. Language Version

19.1. The English-language version of this Privacy Policy is provided for convenience only.

19.2. In the event of any discrepancy, inconsistency, or conflict between the Polish-language version and the English-language version of this Privacy Policy, the Polish-language version shall prevail.
